Gary Grajcarek Joined Compart for Extending Compart's Presence to UK and Nordics

September 3, 2013

[London, September 3, 2013] - Gary Grajcarek joined Compart for extending Compart's presence to UK and Nordics

Compart the leading global provider of Multi-Channel Output Management Solutions has extended its Northern European footprint with Gary Grajcarek having joined the NER business development team. "Gary will be a great asset to Compart in serving growing customer demand, serving the UK customer base and expanding our presence in the Nordics," said Stefan Wagner, Regional Manager, Northern European Region, Compart.

Gary's in-depth knowledge and significant experience in customer communications and document processing is born out of 30 years in the industry. He has focused on the delivery of enterprise scale software solutions involving Multi-Channel Customer Communication, Document Processing, Hybrid Mail and Print and Mail technologies across EMEA (UK, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Central and Eastern European Countries, Nordics and South Africa). This includes serving customers from many vertical sectors such as banks and large financial services institutions, insurance companies, major postal organizations, production outsourcers, printer vendor channels and utilities.

Gary explained his motivation, "My whole career has revolved around the document and communication industry. So I am excited to join Compart during a period of rapid growth and to have such an innovative portfolio of output management solutions to offer to the market. Compart's next generation output solutions will help any company facing complex compliance challenges and ever changing communication output needs. They can produce, modify, compare, archive and distribute documents to their customers via the customer channel of choice in a consistent format. Compart frees up companies to focus on running their main business - not the complexity of system infrastructure, document management and distribution”.
